5. Results of Young Engineers Workshop Nara Published!

On May 12, 2015, in the afternoon before the Nara Conference, the workshop, 'Elegance in Structures: the Footbridge' was held for Young Engineers, 35 years or younger. The workshop was a design competition for a footbridge which span was 26m assumed to cross the Saho River in Nara City, and consisted of lectures by prominent engineers, presentations by young engineers, question and answer sessions, and an awarding ceremony. All participating teams/individuals submitted their designs in advance and made presentations at the workshop. The total number of all the contributing young engineers who prepared for making designs were 65 from 9 countries, and more than 50 young engineers participated in the workshop. All the participating teams proposed interesting and ingenious designs with elegant visual images. Finally, an Outstanding Design Award, an Excellent Design Award, and three Exceptional Design Awards were given to five teams. The results of the Workshop have been published online here..
